

The Intelligencer.

No. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street.

HONORABLE JOHN H. HAMILTON FOR HIS

CITY AND COUNTRY AS MANY LIVES AS YOURS

Truly, J. H. H.

As a candidate for the Presidency Hamilton is already "knocked out."

It really does not seem to be as though the Maryland Democracy must vanish.

We hear less of Irish agitation in these days, but Irish misery seems to "go on better."

STONER HAMILTON has "knocked out" his little pen.

JAMES BLACK'S illness gives Jeff Davis and Buchanan a respite. When he gets on his feet again they must swing.

HAMILTON is liberal, but he isn't courageous. All of a sudden he continues to refuse to say how much it cost him.

McDONALD is said to be Tilden's legate.

If he makes out as well in 1884 as Tilden did in 1880, the cares of office will rest lightly on him.

The Democratic ring of Maryland is bigger but not worse than the Democratic ring of West Virginia. Kings are played out in this land of the free.

The Insane Asylum Regent—all Democrats—don't seem to be in a hurry about investigating. Perhaps they think this isn't a good time for whitewashing.

In the official valuation gave value and increased the selling price, the farmers of West Virginia would be fortunate and happy men. The Bourbon party can't stay!

JUSTICE BURGER'S action in Policeman

Belleville's case puts a premium on disorder and resistance of authority. The circumstances do not warrant the judgment, which is harsh and apparently spiteful.

We note with pain an increasing disposition in the Democratic newspapers to republish the Donor Excellency Jacob

B. Jackson and his administration. Is this the Democratic reward for faithful party service?

The First Branch of Council kicks the gas heating ordinance aside with neatness and dispatch. Well, the gas is here—what are we going to do with it? Perhaps somebody can suggest a plan for its general utilization.

SPEAKING of political machines, read what the Democratic Governor of Maryland has to say about the Democratic machine of that Democratic State. It is

"nightly interest" reading, and it is going to stir the State from border to border.

A "TARIFF for revenue only" with the "only" left out, is the dish which some of the Democratic managers want to before the people. Let 'em come on with it.

The Republican party is solid on the tariff question, and the country knows where it stands. It has no explanations or apologies to make.

GOVERNOR HAMILTON may not bring about harmony in the Maryland Democracy, but he has made a striking contribution in the political literature of the time.

His Mast will suggest to many tax-payers who have been voting the Democratic ticket that they are paying too much for their whist. Sentiment in Maryland is ripe for a change.

GENERAL BOUTWELL, the accomplished

Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, was one of the Washington correspondents who wrote Col.

S. W. Fessenden up and down as a winding claim agent. To prove the charge false Fessenden sent out to "whale" Newspaper Row. He assaulted Boutwell in his office, and was thrown out. At the police station Fessenden threatened Peabody, a lawyer, and was knocked down for his trouble. The question is, what is Fessenden's crime? If he were to "knock out" any correspondents that would not show him in a bad light.

The Wheeling Intelligencer is one of the best papers in the State—clear, terse, and well edited. It is superior to the Republic of West Virginia in every respect. It is a model of journalism. It is a model of journalism.

Editors good friend, "ain't much 'contention" was it Shakespeare who said, "the paper's the thing? The Intelligencer has shown at a good many elections in West Virginia, and will vote at more. West Virginia doesn't shut her door against people from Pennsylvania or Ohio, or Virginia or Tennessee, and Republicans will be the last to say or do an inopportune thing.

We Americans are a moving people, not stayed State lines, generally sure of a cordial reception by our countrymen where-ever we find them. Speaking of leniency, and that is not assumed by the mere offering of a suggestion. If the editor of the Intelligencer were to find himself possessed of no undesirable thing he would be obliged to give it away, throw it away, or put it up as a relic.

A DISTINGUISHED GENTLEMAN.

Correspondence of the Intelligencer.

CHICAGO, W. A., August 8.—Robert

Baltimore, of this vicinity, at about 10:30 o'clock this morning, committed suicide by hanging himself with the strap of his trunk to the limb of a low chestnut tree on his father's farm. The cause is supposed to be temporary insanity. Mr. Hinkle was about 22 years old, well educated, very intelligent and was one of the most estimable young men of his neighborhood.

Weeping With Death.

New York, August 14.—A telegram just received from Fredericton announces that the Count DeOssington is wrestling with death. Count DeOssington, the Orleanist Prince and a member of Legation's Chiefs left for Fredericton.

Hon. James Cockburn, ex-Speaker of the House of Commons of the Dominion, died yesterday morning.

A BOMB SHELL

IN THE DEMOCRATIC CAMP.

Governor Hamilton, of Maryland, Lett Gorman and the Other Bosses Have It—The Party's

Broken Promises—The Law in Maryland and the People's Money Squandered.

-BALTIMORE, August 14.—The morning papers publish a lengthy letter from Governor Hamilton, of this State, firing hot shots into the Democratic ring, of which Senator Gorman is the head. The letter makes four columns in the Sun. It is a deliberate and scathing indictment of the party management, and means war.

A conference of the friends of Governor Hamilton was held on the 12th of last month, at which a circular was adopted addressed to Governor Hamilton, manifesting deep concern for the continued suppresion of the Democratic party in Maryland, and requesting him to give a public expression of his views on the issues affecting that result. The circular, having since received the signatures of between three and four thousand citizens, was formally submitted to Governor Hamilton a few days ago. The points upon which information was especially sought, as set forth in the circular, were: "First, what further measures of reform are necessary for a constitutional and honest administration of the government of the State? Second, what measures have been adopted during your administration to effect these desirable objects? Third, what are the proper means by which they may be secured to the people?"

THE DEMOCRATIC MIND ANSWERS.

This gave the Governor his opportunity, and he has used it to good purpose. In his letter he says:

The popular demand for some years past for reformation and amendment, continued to grow, and was manifested by popular manifestation before conventions, and afterwards at the polls, demonstrated the conviction of a cause felt to be just. There was too much volume and force not to have more convictions and urgent necessity for reformation and amendment. The cause that begot the present distrust, common and inquiries are not exhausted.

No one can doubt but that there is in the Democratic mind a profound anxiety, and hardly a question but that there is a real discontent with the present management of the party. The cause that begot the present distrust, common and inquiries are not exhausted.

The Democratic party has had uninterrupted possession of every branch of our State Government since 1877. The absolute control of the party has been complete, and the party has been able to do as it pleased in the management of the State. The Democratic party has been able to do as it pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

Democratic party has been able to do as it

pleased in the management of the State. The

WOES OF THE IRISH.

A PITIFUL TALE OF DISTRESS.

The Rule of Tenants by Uncapricious Landlords.

The Price Paid by Many Unfortunate Dependants—The Poor Irishman's Lot.

A Landlord's Deeds.

PHILADELPHIA, August 14.—A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes as follows from Philadelphia, Ireland: I drove through the private demesne of Lord Dunsandle to-day. This place belongs to the estate. His Lordship, who is now quite an old man, does not find the atmosphere hereabouts wholesome. He thinks there is lead in the air. He is living down at Kingsdown, near Dublin.

It is a little seaside resort, and also the departing station for boats to Holyhead.

There the disreputable and immoral old Lord is doing penance for his sins. He did more clearing of his lands than any man in Ireland for the size of his estate.

His rents are said to be over $100,000 a year. Besides the desire to put his land under grass, he had the second motive of getting rid of many of his tenants. He wanted to get rid of the Irish who he had brought to America. He used to pay the expenses of whole families who emigrated to America.

The family name is Daly. All the children that heacknowledges as his were born out of wedlock. Willie Daly, his eldest son, lives on the demesne and acts as his natural father's agent. He has several sisters. They stay on the place with him. Though he sprang from the peasantry he is so unpopular with them that his own ex-servants would not have him on the demesne. The old Lord married the mother of these children after all of them were nearly grown through fear of outraged public opinion.

He graved that for a long time; but a very serious talk of tarring and feathering him, induced him to give up the idea. He was a very good man, and his wife, who was a very good woman, was a very good woman. He was a very good man, and his wife, who was a very good woman, was a very good woman. He was a very good man, and his wife, who was a very good woman, was a very good woman.

He was a very good man, and his wife,

who was a very good woman, was a very good woman. He was a very good man, and his wife, who was a very good woman,

was a very good woman. He was a very

good man, and his wife, who was a very

good woman, was a very good woman.

He was a very good man, and his wife,

who was a very good woman, was a very

good woman. He was a very good man,

and his wife, who was a very good woman,

was a very good woman. He was a very

good man, and his wife, who was a very

good woman, was a very good woman.

He was a very good man, and his wife,

who was a very good woman, was a very

good woman. He was a very good man,

and his wife, who was a very good woman,

was a very good woman. He was a very

good man, and his wife, who was a very

good woman, was a very good woman.

He was a very good man, and his wife,

who was a very good woman, was a very

good woman. He was a very good man,

and his wife, who was a very good woman,

was a very good woman. He was a very

good man, and his wife, who was a very

good woman, was a very good woman.

He was a very good man, and his wife,

who was a very good woman, was a very

good woman. He was a very good man,

and his wife, who was a very good woman,

was a very good woman. He was a very

good man, and his wife, who was a very

good woman, was a very good woman.

He was a very good man, and his wife,

who was a very good woman, was a very

good woman. He was a very good man,

and his wife, who was a very good woman,

LABOR INQUIRY.

SENATE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

The Result of Yesterday's Session—The Bottom of the Telegraphers' Strike—Cases

That Led to the Difference Between the Western Union and Its Men.

New York, August 14.—The United States Senatorial Sub-Committee on Labor and Education resumed its session to-day.

J. F. McClelland, a member of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers, resumed his testi-